Locate $37,160 in APW Funds for County

$37,160 in matching funds in the Federal Public Works program have been allocated to Crawford County for stream improvement. The funds were learned just last week by a telegram from the U. S. Senator Philip A. Hart, Washington.

The funds will be matched by the county and the work will be completed by the end of the year. The full text of Senator Hart's letter is as follows:

"The Senate Interior Department has approved $217,500 for the Federal Public Works program under the Federal Public Works program to provide for the cost of improving the stream bed through construction of a dam, preparation of spawning grounds, and improvement of fish habitat. Control of undesirable stream bed material will be provided. $37,160 will be allocated to Crawford County."

The AuSable River's east branch, which is the state's best trout stream, will be among the first to be improved. The fish habitat improvement program, the State Department said.

During the first of a long series of projects, work will start May 14 miles of the AuSable east finger. The Crawford County trout water will get stream bed improvement, a bank stabilization job, new fish spawning habitat and other improvements.

Frank L. Bond To Retire From After 30 Years

FRANK L. BOND

Frank L. Bond, who came to Grayling in 1933 as a science teacher, has resigned his teaching position to become County Superintendent of Schools, effective July 1, 1963. Mr. Bond replaces Wesley Kumpula, who resigns from the post after 4 years of service.

Mr. Bond received his Bachelor's degree from Olivet College in 1933, and his Master's degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, in 1937. He taught chemistry, physics, biology, and general science until 1938, when he took on in addition to his teaching, the job of high school principal. He served as principal until 1940, when he became superintendent. During his tenure as superintendent he also served as head monitor for Civil Service examinations in this area.

Mr. Bond served as superintendent during the war years and supervised the issuing of ration books. His special project at that time, in addition to collecting pictures of boys in service to post in the main hall of the school, was a newsletter from the school to all boys in service who had attended the school.

During his administration, the following programs were added: Band, vocal music, football, skiing, track, replacing baseball, hot lunch, visual education, driver training, office practice, planned schedules in the high school as well as a broader high school program, eye and ear testing, school forest and forest fire fighting, Veterans' Institute, four CCC defense classes and a teacher-aiding program, payroll and voucher systems, an internal accounting system and regular school board meetings, a salary schedule, sick leave for employees, a teachers' club and M. E. A. chapter, a school host and hostess and Parent-Teacher and Alumni Associations. Improvements to the physical plant at the school were a ventilating system, bus garage, three new buses, a new heating system, remodeling in the older building and the construction of a combination gymnasium and community building. In the opinion of the writer, Mr. Bond was the guiding hand behind this building program and the associated improvements. He also composed what appears to be the first written school board policies.

Grayling-Clinton Paired In Mayor Exchange Draw

In a drawing held in Lansing for Mayor's Exchange Day planned as part of the 1963 Michigan Week in May, Grayling was paired with the community of Clinton.

Clinton is a village of 1,481 according to the 1960 census and is located in Lenawee County. The community, however, is almost straddle of the north line of Lenawee County and the south line of Washtenaw County. It is located approximately 15 miles southwest of Ann Arbor.

Mayor Ralph Hoffman will in May, during Michigan Week on Monday which is designated as Mayor's Exchange Day, be in Clinton while the Mayor of Clinton will spend the day in this area.

Trout Season Opens Saturday

LANSING — Trout fishermen should find northern Michigan streams at or near average levels for their season's opener April 27, according to the Conservation Department.

Throughout most areas snow made a hasty exit during the spring break-up which means that trout waters may be warmer and clearer than usual.

Upper peninsula streams are expected to be at their seasonally high levels come opening day. In the northern lower peninsula, stream conditions are generally normal for this time of the year.

Another 56,425 fish of take-home size were released in the northern lower peninsula's cold water lakes this spring. In the upper peninsula, where the majority of trout lakes were planted last fall, some 800 fish recently were added.

Trout releases in northern Michigan streams will be launched next month when Department crews have better access to planting sites. Actually, Michigan's spring trout fishing season is already underway — on a limited scale. Rainbows and browns became legal catches April 6 in some 40 upper peninsula streams designated by the Department and in the Great Lakes, Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair, Detroit and St. Marys rivers (not including the Soo Rapids). Action reportedly has been slow in these waters.

Fishing fees remain the same as last year: $2 each for the resident license and trout stamp, $5 for the annual non-resident license and $4 for the 15-day license which applies to out-of-state fishermen only. In addition to these licenses, nonresidents also need stamps to fish trout.

May Assign 50 Boys

Camp LaVictoire located northeast of Grayling and a new boys camp near Houghton Lake may be used by the State of Michigan to ease congestion at Boys Vocational School, it was said in Lansing. Governor George Romney and welfare officials are said ready to make a transfer of 100 boys to the two named locations.

The Governor said the program has been in the planning stage for some months and is not a reaction to complaints by Probate Judge James Lincoln of Wayne County.

Camp LaVictoire, part of the corrections department rehabilitation program for several years, will be able to take 50 boys between 16 and 18 years of age by May 15.

Lynn Kellogg, acting state welfare director, declared $25,000 will be needed to run the camp until June 30 and that $105,000 is being requested for the 12 months' operation beginning July 1.

The governor said the state legislature has agreed to cooperate.

Another 50 boys will be placed at Pup Lake, Roscommon County, by next October. This camp has already been authorized by lawmakers.

Kellogg said the camps will provide programs of conservation and academic education for the boys. Only boys who are showing adjustment, are healthy and have institutional records meriting release will be accepted.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

I wish to take this opportunity on behalf of myself and the City Council to publicly thank the City Police and City Fire Department for the efficient way they handled the tragic fire last week.

It has been my privilege, since I have been City Manager, to witness these two organizations work as a team on one other occasion, that was the chemical fire in the winter of 1961. These things just don't happen. It takes planning and complete cooperation between the two units to bring about such teamwork.

The people of Grayling should be, and I am sure they are, very proud of these two groups of men for the fine work they have done. They are called upon many times for their service day or night and never refuse, and their loyalty to the City is very evident by their actions.

For such a small town to have such a dedicated group of men is something all of us can be thankful for. So for all of us I say, thanks boys, for a good job well done.

Foreman Retiring At Hartwick Pines Park

LANSING, April 23 — Paul Litzner, Conservation Foreman at Camp Lehman, Hartwick-Pines State Park, Grayling, with the Parks Division of the Michigan Department of Conservation, is retiring from state service April 27th.

Litzner started with the department in 1947, with the lake and stream improvement program of the fish division and carried on the work in many Upper Peninsula streams.

A flash fire which was believed caused by a faulty space heater exploded in the Betty Moes home at the corner of Lake and Plum streets about midnight last Wednesday taking the lives of five children ranging in age from two to nine years.

The frame home was a mass of flames even before the alarm could be turned in. A baby sister, Miss Judy Cook, sister of Mrs. Moes was barely able to escape the fire herself. Waking on a downstairs couch, the 17-year old baby sister found the entire room in flames and just managed to get out of the door.

Killed in the holocaust were three young sons and two daughters of Mrs. Moes, 28. The mother was at a neighbors at the time of the fire playing cards.

The victims were Barbara Lynn, 9; John David, 7; Scott Allen, 6; James, 4; and the youngest daughter, Billie Faye, 2.

Two Grayling volunteer firemen, Ed and Donald Sorenson, who both live nearby, saw the smoke and raced to the scene. They attempted to enter the home, but were beaten back by searing heat, flames and smoke.

The flames apparently awoke three of the five young victims, who were sleeping upstairs. Their bodies were found at the head of the stairs. They apparently had attempted to flee, but were trapped.

Crawford County Coroner Alfred Sorenson and Det. Sgt. John Jirocco, state police fire marshal, both thought the youngsters suffocated before the flames reached them.

Two of the bodies were found in their beds.

Mrs. Moes, although she did not hear the fire whistle, returned home about seven minutes after 12 a. m. She and the baby sister were both given sedatives and taken from the scene.

Efforts by firefighters to bring the blaze under control were hampered by stiff winds and a leaking fuel tank which spewed oil into the basement, fueling the flames.

The fire was brought under control in about two hours and the grim task of recovering the bodies began. They were taken to the Sorenson Funeral Home.

Jirocco said a faulty space heater caused the tragic fire, worst in over 35 years in Grayling.

The children's father, William, was located in Indiana where he was working and informed of the tragedy.

Crawford County Sheriff Arthur F. Clough said there was virtually no hope for saving the children.

Even if we could have gotten into the house, I doubt that the youngsters could have been saved. The fire was that bad," the sheriff said.

Funeral services for the five children were held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Mary's church with Msgr. Francis Kaminski of Gaylord officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Crawford County Sheriff Arthur F. Clough said there was virtually no hope for saving the children.

Even if we could have gotten into the house, I doubt that the youngsters could have been saved. The fire was that bad," the sheriff said.

Funeral services for the five children were held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Mary's church with Msgr. Francis Kaminski of Gaylord officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery.

The frame home was a mass of flames even before the alarm could be turned in. A baby sister, Miss Judy Cook, sister of Mrs. Moes was barely able to escape the fire herself. Waking on a downstairs couch, the 17-year old baby sister found the entire room in flames and just managed to get out of the door.

Killed in the holocaust were three young sons and two daughters of Mrs. Moes, 28. The mother was at a neighbors at the time of the fire playing cards.

The victims were Barbara Lynn, 9; John David, 7; Scott Allen, 6; James, 4; and the youngest daughter, Billie Faye, 2.

Two Grayling volunteer firemen, Ed and Donald Sorenson, who both live nearby, saw the smoke and raced to the scene. They attempted to enter the home, but were beaten back by searing heat, flames and smoke.

The flames apparently awoke three of the five young victims, who were sleeping upstairs. Their bodies were found at the head of the stairs. They apparently had attempted to flee, but were trapped.

Crawford County Coroner Alfred Sorenson and Det. Sgt. John Jirocco, state police fire marshal, both thought the youngsters suffocated before the flames reached them.

Two of the bodies were found in their beds.

Mrs. Moes, although she did not hear the fire whistle, returned home about seven minutes after 12 a. m. She and the baby sister were both given sedatives and taken from the scene.

Efforts by firefighters to bring the blaze under control were hampered by stiff winds and a leaking fuel tank which spewed oil into the basement, fueling the flames.

The fire was brought under control in about two hours and the grim task of recovering the bodies began. They were taken to the Sorenson Funeral Home.

Jirocco said a faulty space heater caused the tragic fire, worst in over 35 years in Grayling.

The children's father, William, was located in Indiana where he was working and informed of the tragedy.

Crawford County Sheriff Arthur F. Clough said there was virtually no hope for saving the children.

Michigan State Fair Officials Plan Expansion Of Fairgrounds Area

NEED FAIR IDEAS
State Fair officials have a number of ideas for expanding the uses of the Fairgrounds at Detroit, but they are looking for more suggestions.

The State Fair Authority recently retained Oskar Stonorov, an internationally known architect, to design a site plan for future development of the Fairgrounds.

Walter A. Goodman, general manager of the Fair, emphasizes the Authority will keep the staging of the annual State Fair as its basic purpose but another objective is to provide facilities to meet the year-round recreational needs of the State.

Some of the suggestions for year-round facilities to be added to the Fairgrounds are for ice and field hockey, soccer, amateur and semi professional theater, miniature golf, skiing, an antique car museum, and special buildings for use by the groups.

The groups for which facilities have been recommended by interested citizens to date include 4-H, Future Farmers of America, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, and senior citizens.

Development of settings similar to California's Disneyland and Denmark's Tivoli Gardens also have been suggested.

Goodman is now looking for other ideas which the architect can use in laying out the plan for the Fairgrounds.

SOMETIMES ON SUNDAY
Efforts of the controversial Sunday Closing Law passed by the 1962 Legislature are just beginning to be felt in counties where it will be enforced.

Many County Boards of Supervisors voted to exempt their areas from the provisions before the enactment actually became law late in March. Court action tied up enforcement in a number of other areas.

One of the more effects of the law came in the Legislature, however, where an attempt to repeal it throughout the state was started even before it became law.

Russell Stronge, a fourth-term Republican Representative from Clare, introduced the repeal bill early in the 1963 session.

Although his proposal died in committee, Stronge said he thought the committee's decision was a wise one. "They told me they wanted to give it a year to run before making a decision on whether it should remain in effect," he said. Support for the repeal bill appeared to be strong although the measure never got to the floor for debate. Indications were another attempt to eliminate the mandatory one day closing will be made during coming sessions.

SAVINGS STAMPS
Failure of his proposals to regulate the trading stamp industry disappointed Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, but he says he plans to renew the effort during the next legislative session.

Identical bills introduced in the House and Senate this year on Kelley's behalf were designed to give an insurance factor to Mrs. Michigan Housewife that when she saves stamps over a long period of time she will receive some measure of value from them.

Both bills died in the committees to which they were assigned. The Senate State Affairs Committee held a hearing on the proposal which drew strong protest to the regulation from spokesmen for the industry. In the House working unit, the bill was lost in the shuffle to consider other measures.

"I am, of course, disappointed that this reasonable regulation failed to be adopted by the Legislature this year," said Kelley, the state's chief law enforcement officer. "However, I think we have made clear the necessity of regulation of this multi-million dollar industry in the public interest."

Kelley's strong interest in the legislation was prompted by the failure of two stamp companies in Michigan in the past three years. In both cases poor management was blamed primarily for the bankruptcy of the firms, but Kelley and others felt if the industry had been regulated the impractical management procedures might have been noted before the firms became insolvent.

In each case, housewives holding stamps issued by the firms were unable to redeem them for merchandise.

NOW Two Automatic Job Printing Presses To More Swiftly Serve Your Printing Needs!

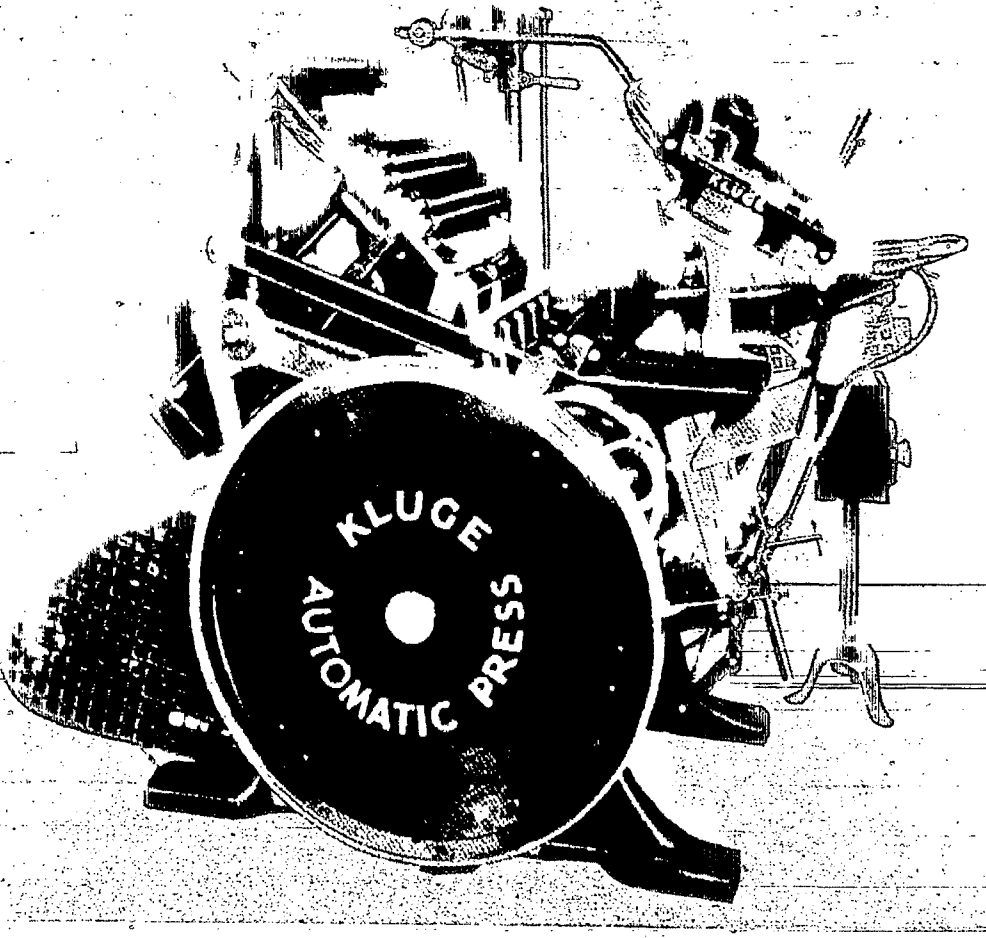

REGARDLESS OF YOUR PRINTING NEEDS, THE AVALANCHE IS NOW EQUIPPED TO HANDLE ANY JOB NO MATTER HOW LARGE THE RUN.

YOU ARE INVITED TO STOP IN AND SEE THESE PRESSES IN ACTION AT ANYTIME. THEIR SPEED AND ACCURACY WILL REALLY AMAZE YOU.

The new Heidelberg press pictured at the top of this advertisement was added to the Avalanche's production department earlier this month. The press was developed, engineered and built at Heidelberg, Germany, and is an amazing machine. The Kluge press pictured at the bottom right of the advertisement has been serving the Avalanche's job printing department for the past fifteen years and is of American make.

Both presses are automatics, that is, after being set up and loaded with the correctly cut paper for the job, they automatically feed the paper into the press, print it and deliver it to a finished pile. By the addition of the second press, the Avalanche will be in a position to get the printing needs of the area out faster.

The new Heidelberg press can handle a sheet of paper up to 10 1/4 by 15 inches down to 1 1/2 by 2 3/4 inches. It's maximum running speed is 5,000 impressions per hour. It weighs 2,300 pounds but is able to deliver an impression strength of 40 tons. Nearly 80,000 automatic presses made by this company are now in use all over the globe.

National Library Week . . .

Never in Godde's World will there be books enough. Thus wrote the forgotten Scots poet, Jamie Fulerton in 1643.

Untold millions of books have been published since Fulerton died and was laid to rest in an Edinburgh cemetery. Many have disappeared into limbo. But in the libraries others remain, and have their honored, useful place in the libraries of the world.

During the April 21-27 period we will observe National Library Week. No institution can be more deserving of such an honor. For a library is, in the full sense of the word, a monument to civilization—to its tragedies and triumphs, its disasters and its victories, and, above all, what men have felt and managed to put down in words of prose and poetry.

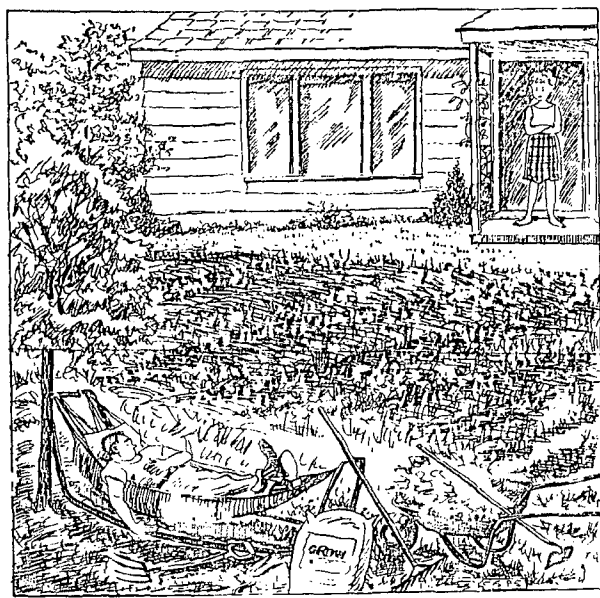

A world without books would be the emptiest of worlds. And the man or woman who does not read—and read seriously—is missing, tragically and unnecessarily, one of the greatest of human needs and pleasures.

A Great Dilemma . . .

Writing in Fortune, Lawrence Lessing deals at length with the problem of regulating the production and sale of drugs. The substance of his opening paragraph: In the wake of the thalidomide tragedy that hit headlines last summer, with its pitiful legacy of deformed babies, the U. S. enacted a whole new set of laws and regulations for the stricter control of drugs. Whatever its other virtues and defects, this legislation is hardly likely by itself to avert the recurrence of such tragedies. And it may impose such costs and burdens on pharmaceutical companies as to slow down the development of the prolonging new products. Indeed, no set of regulations can get around the great dilemma that confronts medical science, the industry, and government in the testing and introduction of new drugs. It is impossible to determine definitely whether a drug is free from harmful effects unless it is tried widely on humans—and that inevitably means risking lives.

This makes the present danger clear. With the best will in the world, we can go so far in drug regulation that we seriously hamper and even prevent the tests and experiments which are absolutely essential to new developments. Had extreme regulations been in effect in the past, it is safe to say, numbers of valuable drugs now prescribed would not exist. And this is a great matter indeed. According to Mr. Lessing, about 90 per cent of all the prescriptions today are for drugs that were unknown to therapeutics some 15 years ago. He adds, "Formerly the pharmaceutical industry made only what the doctors prescribed; now the doctor prescribes what the industry makes."

There must be rules and regulations—a statement which the ethical drug companies completely agree with. But every care must be taken to see that they are not of a nature that will slow and perhaps stop the clock of progress.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

April 25, 1940

The Junior Play, presented last week to a large audience, was a very successful production. The class of 1941's presentation of "Mama's Baby Boy" was well received. The play was staged by the class of 1941, eleven members comprising the cast of characters. The students who took parts were trained by Director Cecil Roberts, and a smooth and polished performance was the result. Those who took part included Kathleen Kraus, a young widow, and her son, Robert Welsh; Lawrence Cady, a widower, and his daughter Thelma Papendick. Add Joyce Heath as a colored maid; Jack Redhead as a real estate agent; Margaret Flagg a friend of the widow and sister of the widower; and her daughter, Katherine Peterson; Kathryn Charron as a grandmother; Floyd Millikin and Leona Deckrow to add a youthful touch and the cast is complete. Between the acts Mrs. Rowland played a trumpet solo, and Natalie Peterson and Mildred Craft sang. Miss Johnson accompanied at the piano.

Saturday, April 27, Willard Harwood will officially open his new restaurant on U. S. 27, which was formerly his grocery store and sandwich shop. The grocery store has been made into a large dining room, the walls painted in two shades of ivory and the ceiling in a lighter shade. There are fifteen matching ivory booths. Along one side of the room is a long counter with red padded stools. The former sandwich shop has been remodeled into a dance floor. A nickelodeon will furnish the music at times when there is no orchestra. The kitchen is in full view of the dining room.

Miss Grace E. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones of St. Helen, became the bride of Eugene Brossard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brossard of Lansing at a pretty ceremony Saturday morning in St. Mary's church, Lansing. Some 45 members of St. Mary's parish enjoyed the social evening Thursday at the parish hall. A potluck dinner served buffet style with just about everything on the menu was the big feature and everyone did ample justice to it. During the dinner, Louis Kraus rendered a couple of cornet solos that made a hit with crowd. Patsy Hope Hietala was on the program for one of her tap dances which she did nicely and responded to an encore. Mrs. June Underwood sang two vocal solos very beautifully playing her own accompaniment. After dinner dishes were cleared away and card tables set up and when the card games were over Mrs. W. J. 46 YEARS AGO

April 26, 1917

Col. Walter G. Rogers, quartermaster general, has arrived in Grayling and is at the Military reservation grounds. After looking over the grounds he returned to Grayling and went at once to the local lumber companies and placed requisitions for estimates on large quantities of lumber. He stated that there would be about eight thousand soldiers in camp here this summer, also that the government would begin at once the construction of forty-six dining rooms with capacity of 150 men each, an administration building and a hospital, the cost of both amounting to thirty-five thousand dollars. Work on the completion of the stone road from Grayling to the reservation will be started at once.

William Jensen came home from Detroit Sunday to remain for an indefinite time.

Dewey Durfee of Gaylord is the new clerk at the A. M. Lewis drug store, succeeding Sanford Getz who has returned to his home in Brown City.

Menno Corwin of South Branch visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Corwin, Saturday.

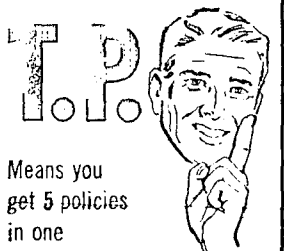

Rev. Mitchell performed two wedding ceremonies Wednesday evening. The marriage of Miss Bertina Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bennett of this city and Mr. Oliver C. Baker of West Branch took place at the home of the bride's parents, at 7 o'clock. At 8:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Isenbauer, Mrs. Minnie Bubeay and Mr. John Isenbauer were united in marriage.

Attend Area Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Joseph and son Bill drove to Manistee Sunday to meet with Mrs. Rachel Anderson, Director of the Youth for Understanding Teen-Age Exchange Program, and some twenty-five other students from this area, their parents, student counselors, and some of the foreign students here on exchange. They received advice on what Bill should take with him to Europe, and what is expected of the students while representing the United States.

The Josephs were interested to learn that the Michigan Council of Churches, which is sponsoring this program, has handled the second largest number of young people of any group exchanging students. They have had experience with over 7,000 students in the relatively short time the program has been in effect.

The Josephs will attend a potluck picnic at the Ann Arbor High School on May 19th to receive the latest information on this summer's flight date and the family with whom Bill will be staying.

St. Mary's Ladies Club

St. Mary's Ladies Club met Tuesday, April 16th, at St. Mary's Hall. Mrs. Tom Douglas, president, presided at the business meeting. The reports of the club officers were read and approved. The mother and daughter breakfast to be held May 12 was discussed, and the committee is to report before that time as to where the breakfast will be held. The spring smorgasbord which is usually held in May has been planned instead for sometime in June.

The speaker, arranged for by Mrs. Paul Dosch, program chairman, was the Rev. Fr. X. La...

skid of Mio, who gave a very interesting talk on Our Lady of the Woods shrine at Mio, telling that it is the largest shrine of its kind in the world. Afterwards a lunch was served by the committee, Mrs. Jack Rasmussen, Mrs. Dick Ames and Mrs. Harold Gohick.

Mrs. Earl Whaley is back at her duties as treasurer. Mrs. Fraser Dean has taken over for Mrs. Dick Rasmussen as secretary for an indefinite period.

Hospital Auxiliary News

There were 13 members and one visitor present at the April 18 meeting of Mercy Hospital Auxiliary. During the work period, some of the ladies typed forms to be used in the hospital, some folded laundry and others sewed. At the business meeting Sister Mary Janice talked about the Mercycettes, and the proposed memorial garden plots, which the hospital will water when other up-

Auxiliary voted to contribute $2 each to the Cancer and Crippled Children funds. In figuring up the time spent at the hospital doing work, the ladies spent 21 hours between February 20 and 28, and 54 hours during March, plus extra sewing time at home by Mrs. Heric.

Sister Janice invited the ladies to attend a tea on May 14 at 2 p. m. during Hospital Week.

Mrs. Connie Johnson and Mrs. Mary Sisco served the coffee.

ANOTHER OLDEN TIME PHOTO — This is another photo furnished to the Avalance by Mrs. Bertha Oaks of Clio, formerly of Grayling. The picture was snapped on the lawn of her home which was right back of the Crawford County Court House. The children are carrying wreaths and plants which they carried in the line of march to the cemetery on Memorial Day, 1910. The ladies in the background are Mrs. Carl Mark, Mrs. Hugh Oaks and Mrs. C. Amidon. Mrs. Oaks writes that she can think of only a few of the names of the children in the photo. Those she remembers are: three of Fred Martin's children, Ernest Olson, Clara Nelson, Verna Biggs, Gladys Everett, Lula Fairbrother, Marion Shreck, Benton Jorgenson, Pat Clark, Herbert Ralph and Ruby Oaks.

BITS O' TALK

Mrs. Elberta Lutz enjoyed a true surprise party Easter Sunday in honor of her birthday. Her family gathered at the Robert Lutz home, to which she was invited supposedly for a Sunday ride, and when she arrived she found them waiting her, also a birthday dinner prepared for the occasion. Those present, besides the Robert Lutz family were Mr. and Mrs. Hill Brooks and family of Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Campbell and family of Fife Lake, Mrs. Pauline Purcell and family of Higgins Lake, and Mrs. Bertha Williams of Mio.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Williamson have moved from the Midtown Motel into their new home at 307 Ionia Street. Easter Week guests of the Williamson were her sister, Mrs. Howard C. Ross, and daughter, Mrs. Ned Fairman and children Kimberly Ann and Jay, all of Indianapolis, Ind., from Monday to Thursday.

A Touch of the Past

Among the means of self-preservation devised by man, few are more ancient or more logical than charity.

The concept undoubtedly arose when thoughtful ape man "A" saw hungry ape man "B" obtain food by bashing the head of successful ape man "C". Inspired to new heights of community-mindedness by this demonstration of exuberant initiative, "A" must have concocted a system of alms under which the less fortunate could dine and his own skull would remain intact. In any case, the system helped to prolong many lives, was at least as serviceable to the giver as to the recipient, and was altogether a good example of charity as most men have known it.

However, any contributions to the Cancer Fund should not be regarded as charity or as a gift, but as an investment, an investment in your future and your families future.

A person who gives with knowledge of a specific need revitalizes his own spirit.

Remember—No cancer ever cured itself—only SURGERY, X-RAY or RADIUM can cure cancer.

Have YOU had your health check-up lately?

Martin Tinker Ends Basic Recruit Training

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (PTNC)—Martin J. Tinker, 20 son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Tinker of 206 Park St., Grayling, Mich., completed nine weeks of basic recruit training, March 29, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The indoctrination to Navy life consisted of physical fitness drills, military drills, seamanship, basic military law, customs and etiquette of the naval service, swimming and survival and first aid.

During the training, recruits receive tests and interviews to determine future training and assignments in the Navy.

LUCKY FORD EXTENSION

The Lucky Ford group drove to Prudenville for their April meeting held April 10th. Chairman, Mrs. Rogalle opened the meeting and hostess Mrs. Eugene Wilson read the Creed. In the continued absence of the treasurer Mrs. Rogalle read the minutes of the March meeting also gave the treasury report. Mrs. Worthey gave the flower fund report, and both were approved. Mrs. Worthey reported on the Council and the Program planning for the 1963-64 season held on April 2nd. Trade Show scheduled for May 10 and 11 when the Extension women will have a booth and exhibit work done; and the Area Re-development program which she and Mrs. Rogalle attended in April 9th.

The lesson, "Focus on Fittings", given by Mrs. Fred Wilson was very interesting to all as each one at different times had encountered some need to alter a pattern without the "know-how". The circulars given out will be most useful. After a nice lunch we had a pleasant drive home.

The next meeting will be May 1st at my house. Lesson will be "Rapid and Smart Food buying." Achievement Day is tentatively set for May 2nd at Maple Forest Town Hall. Registration tickets will be made by the Penny Pinchers group. There will be door prizes also. Commencing at 10 a. m. there will be displays of work done, followed with election of officers, then pot luck lunch at 12. The afternoon program will be a talk and slides (we hope). It is hoped there will be a good attendance. D. Worthey reporter story of Billy and his pony. A third in the series is "Billy Finds and the story slight. "Love is a Special Way of Feeling" by Anglund, is a perfect Valentine of a little book for any time of the

Guard's Little League Benefit Very Successful

The benefit supper at the American Legion Hall Saturday, April 6, put on by members of the Separate Detachment, Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment of the Michigan Army National Guard, realized a substantial sum from the two-hundred and eighty persons who attended. All proceeds from the meal, go toward the newly formed Little League.
The supper was handled entirely by the men of the Separate Detachment, with a beforehand assist from their wives in some of the food preparation. The group expressed their appreciation to the community for its participation and attendance at the supper, with special thanks to the A & P market, the American Legion Post 106, Bear Archery Company, and the Avalanche.
